

General Information:

The Center for Pharmacy Practice Research is pleased to announce the search for a Pharmacy Practice Research Fellow. This Fellowship is a post Doctor of Pharmacy [PharmD] training opportunity designed to assist the Fellow in becoming specialized in the area of pharmacy practice research. The program provides opportunities to engage in community practice research and gain teaching experience. The two-year fellowship program is completed at Washington State University College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences in Spokane, WA. The Fellowship's goal is to train the Fellow with the skills necessary for a career in pharmacy research or pharmacy practice. Prior research and teaching experience are encouraged but not required.

Scholarship:

The Fellow will be directly involved in grant-funded research projects under the direct mentorship of Dr. Kimberly McKeirnan. Research activities such as project idea development, IRB submission, data collection, and data analysis will be part of the work scope. The Fellow will have the opportunity to present his/her research at local and national meetings, with research activities culminating in manuscript submission(s).

Teaching:

The Fellow will also be involved in teaching. Opportunities may include but not be limited to:

- Developing and facilitating labs, lectures, and in-class activities
- Evaluating immunization administration technique skills and other hands-on patient care skills
- Facilitating, leading, and evaluating patient care simulations
- Creating patient cases and educational vignettes demonstrating clinical community pharmacist skills

Stipend and benefits:

Fellows receive a competitive stipend and benefits package.

Applicant Requirements:

The Fellow must be a graduate of a college of pharmacy accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), be licensed or eligible for licensure in the State of Washington, and successfully complete a background check. A validated Doctor of Pharmacy degree is required. The Fellow will complete licensure requirements no later than September 1, 2021. The applicant must meet all the criteria for employment at Washington State University and meet the Department of Pharmacotherapy's professional requirements. In addition, the Fellow must possess excellent verbal and written communication skills. The successful candidate will demonstrate professionalism and strong leadership capabilities. The preferred start date will be July 1, 2021, but may vary depending on availability and preference.

Please send a letter of intent, current CV, and three letters of recommendation to Abby Parsons at abby.parsons@wsu.edu. The application deadline is March 3, 2021. Fellowship candidates will complete a telephone interview initially and may be invited for an interview. Please e-mail or call 509-368-6677 with any questions.
